Super expert for seminar on Coast

ONE of Australia's most respected superannuation experts will speak on the Gold Coast on Tuesday, February 21, discussing the latest Self Managed Super Fund strategies.

Grant Abbott, who has helped shape the direction of SMSF in Australia, will address a seminar at the Marriott Surfers Paradise Resort from 6pm to 8pm.

Mr Abbott is the head trainer for Tribeca Learning, specialising in SMSF.

He is a well respected writer on behalf of many major financial services publications and publishes a monthly journal, The Strategist, now in its 95th edition.

Mr Abbott's book Guide to Self Managed Super Funds, now in its second edition, became a big seller by providing trustees and their advisors with technical and practical knowledge on establishing, building and managing an SMSF.

Mr Abbott is founder of the SMSF Professionals Association of Australia and has helped prepare professional standards for the entire industry.

The seminar has been organised by local firm International Professional Services, and consultant Cameron Reed said Mr Abbott had a lot of information and very timely advice to offer Gold Coast residents.

He said there had been a marked increase in the number of people properly planning for their financial future, with IPS growing its superannuation and financial planning business.

"We are providing a wide range of planning products and services to people in the region, and this seminar is another key tool to help Gold Coasters plan for their future," said Mr Reed.

For tickets, $35 per person or $60 a double, including light refreshments, phone (07) 5528 0799 or email seminars@ips.com.au.
